

Gen. debate

HOUSE OF PEOPLE OF FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF SOMALIA

Date: 02/03/2016

His Excellency Mr. President,

Honorable members of the parliaments,

Accept a very warm greeting,

I did not stand here to deliver a long lecture, but my speech is about issues relating to the politics in general.

First, I would like to talk about the immunity of the members of the parliament. The member of the parliament wherever he may be at the horizon of the world, he/she has immunity, he/she is the only individual who represents the people, which means that the parliamentarian stands for and represents all kinds of community living in the globe.

I am welcoming greatly with open hands the young parliamentarians who are indicating the prospects of tomorrow. They are the people who will fill the political positions, and we need to pave the way so that they will lead properly the politics in the future.

Mr. President and Honorables,

I am welcome that fellow female MPs and encourage them to double their political role in their communities.

We need to unite in one position so that we can do more.

Mr. President and Honorables,

We will never allow the existance of disorted ideas of extremism which terrorist groups are distructing some countries in Africa, Gulf of Arabs and the entire countries of the world.

I am asking for the honorable MPs to unite the fight against the extremism. I am hopeful that will win out the tererism.

Mr. President and Honorables,

Whe must oppose the weapons of mass destruction (WMD) and stand for the elimination so that the people of this wold live peacefully without fear.

In conclusion,

I am summarizing my talk; we need to live the world with peace and prospects of good future that is based on good governance and political maturity.

Honorable: Abdullahi Ahmed Hussein,
