

“gender-responsive budgeting and public spending’s potential to enhance gender equality “ – the case of Sweden

Background

Tax reforms and public spending

Health

- Maternity care

Labour market

- Individual taxation
- Child care
- Parental allowance

Gender inequality

– what remains?

- Income inequality
- The distribution of unpaid work
- Violence and sexual violence

Tools

- Gender statistics
- Legal framework
- Gender mainstreaming
- Women's political participation

Gender mainstreaming

- In the parliament

- Gender sensitive budgeting

